

“Tiger sharks are notorious sharks with a well-earned reputation for being extremely dangerous. They can feed on almost anything and, with their strong jaws and sharp teeth, even an investigative bite can cause some serious damage. In Sodwana, where this shot was taken, the local divers had built up a rapport with two resident female tigers. Remarkably enough, we felt quite safe in their company, even when they came right up to check us out.”

▷ Tiger sharks (Galeocerdo cuvier) have broad tastes and will feed on anything from birds, turtles and mammals, to fish, lobsters and even other sharks. With a huge jaw, large nostrils and lines of electro-sensitive pits, these sharks are very capable predators. Aliwal Shoal, South Africa.